ORGAN OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The News Building, No. 6, Martin Street.

THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The Ticket presented below is the form decided on by the Democratic Central Committee for Supreme and Superior Court Judges. The name of the Solicitor may be added thereto, for the District to which he belongs:

FOR JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT.

For Chief Justice:

WILLIAM N. H. SMITH,

For Associate Justices:

THOMAS S. ASHE,

JOHN H. DILLARD,

FOR JUDGES OF THE SUPERIOR COURT.

For Judge Seventh Judicial District:

JESSE F. GRAVES,

For Judge Eighth Judicial District:

ALPHONSO C. AVERY,

For Judge Ninth Judicial District:

JAMES C. L. GUDGER,

FOR SOLICITORS.

The District Judicial nominations are given for the public information, but they do not constitute a part of the State ticket, as only one can be voted on the general ticket, and he only in the District to which he belongs:

ELECTION, THURSDAY, AUGUST 1ST

Congressional Nominations.

FOR CONGRESS, THIRD DISTRICT:

ALFRED M. WADDELL, of New H. mover.

FOR CONGRESS, SIXTH DISTRICT:

WALTER L. STEELE,

FOR CONGRESS, SEVENTH DISTRICT:

ROBERT F. ARMFIELD, of Irredell.

ELECTION, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5TH.

Congressional Convention.

A Convention of the Democrats and Conservatives of the Fourth District will be held in the city of Raleigh, on Thursday the 22nd day of August next, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress. Each county will be entitled to one vote for every one hundred votes and fractional parts thereof, given for Gov. Vance in 1856.

By order of District Ex. Committee,
H. A. LONDON, Jr.

July 2, 1878. Chairman.

The Democratic papers in the District will please copy.

Beware of Bledsoe!

Vote no tickets having the name of Bledsoe on them.

Vote for Fabius H. Busbee for Solicitor of this district.

See that none of the judicial tickets have the name of Cooke on them.

And now it is that the game of the Summer Campaign is played.

Since when did the name of Vance become a synonym for division and dissension in the ranks of the North Carolina Democracy?

the effect of Independent candidates in the August election to influence the congressional campaign in November.

A gentleman writing from Newberne, gives a series of reasons why Governor Vance should go to the Senate of the United States. A personal and wounded allusion to one of the chief supporters of Judge Merrimon in 1872 is stricken out. It should be the constant aim of writers and the conductors of the press to do nothing to unnecessarily sharpen the asperities of the Senatorial contest.

Now that the campaign is over, too great thanks cannot be tendered the Democratic county and legislative candidates. Every one has done his duty nobly, and the same measure of praise is due to each. In this connection it is proper to say that the highest individual praise belongs to Mr. Joseph A. Haywood, Chairman of the County Executive Committee, to whose time and private means is due much of the vigor of the campaign.

The New York Times, relying on the information of some of its North Carolina strikers says that, with judicious management, the Republicans may carry the first, third, fourth and fifth districts for Congress next fall. As they already hold their own in the second, to quote the words of the Times, this would leave the Democrats but three members of Congress from North Carolina, and another writer in the Times says the Republicans have fair opportunities for carrying the eighth district. They better take the eighth, and be done with it.

The fullest and most absolute protection is and shall be guaranteed every colored man who desires to vote the Democratic ticket, and colored men may understand that in the division of its public patronage, the Democratic party means to bestow its favors alone on those who sustain and support it. While it will always be just to the colored man, the Democracy must be generous only to those who by their votes aid to maintain its power. Those colored men employed under Democratic auspices will stand to their colors, and they who interfere will do so at their peril.

The attention of such Southern Outrage mills as the New York Times and Tribune, Chicago Inter-Ocean, and the stalwart New England organs of Blaine, of Maine, is called to the parade of the colored military of Raleigh, on the evening before election. Such a demonstration on the part of the white military would have made these hasty fellows lie down and howl. Was it intended to affect—intimidate they would have called it—any of the colored Democratic voters, number of whom find employment in the State Departments, and other colored men, who have declared their purpose to vote the Democratic ticket? Is it thus that "those close districts in North Carolina" are to be carried for Radical Congressmen?

The leading Republican press of the North evidently does not understand much about Southern politics. A learned writer in the New York Times speaks knowingly of ex-Governor Vance, says the ex-governor is managing his canvas as a candidate for the seat now occupied in the United States Senate by Judge Merrimon, and confidently predicts the utter destruction of the Democratic party in the State, for says this smart writer "to say that ex-Governor Vance is a candidate for anything is to say that there is sure to be trouble in the Democratic party." Perhaps the Times editor has been reading General Clingman. Startling thought! Has the General gone North? Or, more likely, has he lately been interviewed for any Northern paper?

Colonel Peter G. Evans.
In an excellent article on the Battle of Upperville, contributed to the Philadelphia Times by Maj. H. B. McClellan, who was chief of staff to Gen. J. E. Stuart, the following account of the manner of the death of the lamented and gallant Colonel Peter G. Evans, of the 4th North Carolina Cavalry, is found. His epitaph-like that of La Tour D'Auvergne "the bravest grenadier of France," may well be written "Dead of honor." Says Major McClellan: "Hampton brought off from this fight eighty prisoners. The enemy advanced but a short distance beyond Upperville. The last charge of the day was made by Colonel Evans' North Carolina Cavalry, of Robertson's Brigade. I well remember Colonel Evans' appearance as he placed himself at the head of the column. Drawing his sabre and pointing toward the enemy, he cried, as with the voice of a trumpet: "Now, men, I want you to understand that I am going through." He kept his word, but fell mortally wounded in the midst of the enemy, whose ranks he had penetrated too far for the recovery of his body. A feeble attempt to follow this regiment as it returned from the charge was checked by Hampton's Brigade, and darkness closed down upon the scenes of this hard fought day.

News from Abroad.
At Cross Purposes.
That home readers may see in what light the political situation in this State is viewed from abroad, a Washington special to the New York Times is quoted below. If it were not for the existence of a Keogh, one would naturally conclude that the "gentlemen just from North Carolina" was the same "reliable gentlemen" who used to furnish the Richmond press with information regarding the movements of General Lee's army. The special says:—
"An election will be held on Thursday next in North Carolina, at which judicial and other State officers and members of the Legislature will be chosen. As the Legislature to be elected on Thursday will elect a United States Senator to succeed Senator Merrimon, great local interest is felt in the choice of legislators. The Republicans have no State ticket in the field, and, of course, the Democrats will carry the State. There is considerable dissension, however, among the Democrats with reference to the legislative ticket, the contest being between the friends of Senator Merrimon, who is a candidate for re-election, and those of Gov. Vance, who is Merrimon's competitor. A gentleman just from North Carolina says the fight between Merrimon and Vance is very bitter, and it is difficult to determine which of them is ahead in the race. This gentleman thinks that the election on Thursday may result in creating divisions among the Democracy that may be serviceable to the Republicans at the November election, when members of Congress will be chosen. The Republicans are certain to carry the Second Congressional District, and have fair prospects of regaining the First, Third, Fourth and Eighth, particularly if the State election on Thursday next leads to dissensions among their opponents. The Nationals are showing signs of activity in North Carolina, and in some of the Congressional districts propose to run candidates. A National candidate is already announced in the Fifth District, which elected Scales to the present Congress by 2,200 majority. The First District was carried by the Democrats for the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses by about 1,200 majority. It was carried by the Republicans for the Forty-third Congress by over 1,400 majority, and it is believed that with proper management it can be regained by the Republicans next November. In the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Districts the Democratic majorities have been greater than in the First, but these may be regarded as close Districts, and results springing from the election on Thursday may give one or two of them to the Republicans."

The Independents.

Returns received to-night will announce in the morning the result of independent candidacy in this campaign. It will be known within the next few hours how far the effort to demoralize and destroy the organization of the Democratic party in North Carolina has succeeded.

The seeds of this destruction were sown in the Fall of 1872, but they were quickened into life but recently by the agency that planted them, and they have produced the crop for which the sower scattered them. It only remains now to see how abundant and successful the yield. Three times has the Democratic party harvested since these Democratic tares were sown, without encountering them, but in the fourth season they come to plague if not to ruin.

There appear to be six classes of Independent candidates in the field, but all of them are not Merrimon tares. The first are Independent Republicans, the second Independent Democrats, under Radical auspices, third, Independent Democrats running to defeat Vance Democrats, and these all belong to the family of Senatorial tares. There are yet three classes of Independents that belong to the Democratic family, and are running with no designs upon the party organization. The first of these are running in counties where Democratic success is always assured, and the contest is a family fight; another class is composed of Democrats running in open field, where it was decided not to make nominations, but rather to open the ring for a free fight. And there are yet others, who, perhaps, deserve a special classification, and they are those who, believing that fair nominations were not made, oppose what they term the so-called nominees of packed Conventions, and for other causes of local dissatisfaction.

It is greatly to be deplored that any opposition should have arisen within the Democratic ranks against any of its accredited candidates, and it is perfectly certain that the spirit of insubordination which has prevented reorganization was born of the bolt of 1872. Those Democrats of the fourth and sixth classifications may have more serious cause to regret their action than they imagine, for whatever their motive, or the mainspring of their action, the effect on party organization is likely to prove as disastrous in its results as if their impulses had been the worst. They were kindly and fairly warned in time. Nor is it a safe practice or good precedent to abandon party organization to an open campaign.

Of those Democrats who have entered the campaign as Independents, hoping to catch Republican votes, and whose attitude is dictated by their desire to serve the re-election of Senator Merrimon, and to accomplish their end have followed the example of their patron, opposed and defied the Democratic organization, placing their personal purpose above party, all has been said that can be said, yet too much could not be said in their condemnation. If any such should come to the Legislature, it will be for the Democratic caucus to appropriately deal with them.

Agents for Battle of T. G. Strong.
At Cross Purposes.
In the case of the Dickson libel in the Police Court, yesterday the small boy who carried the note made it quite amusing for the audience and provoking the usually placid Prosecuting Attorney. The examination was in this shape: "Where do you live?" "Right across the street from Mr. Dickson." "Where does Mr. Dickson live?" "Right across the street from us." "But that ain't what I want," and the Prosecutor began to grow red and perspire; "tell me where you live." "I live with my mother." "And where does your mother live?" "Right across the street from Mr. Dickson."

Then the Prosecutor swore out habeas corpus against the witness and served him with a man dam us.
